All symbols were enlarged and graphically perfected by Adam too!

...A Special Thanks to My Co-Workers...

...whose writing of Sign Languages from 1981-2010
influenced the development of the International SignWriting Alphabet 2010...

The Center for Sutton Movement Writing is a non-profit 501c3 US educational organization founded in California in 1974. The Center has sponsored six research projects from 1981 to 2010, providing the creative atmosphere needed to encourage skilled American Sign Language users to write their own language for the first time in history. This led to the improvement of SignWriting. Today in 2010, SignWriting looks different than it did back in 1974. It is a streamlined writing system used by thousands in over 40 countries and is an established world script by the International Organization for Standardization (ISO-15924-Sgnw). This could not have happened without the pioneering efforts of our Center staff members. Thank you for your partnership in this effort!

These six projects influenced my development of the hand symbols of the International SignWriting Alphabet (ISWA 2010), presented in this book:

6. SignWriting Encyclopedia Projects (SWEP), 2010 to present

Two special staff members made this book possible. Stephen E Slevinski Jr, software developer of several SignWriting programs including SignPuddle, Binary SignWriting, the SignWriting Image Server & the SignWriting MediaWiki Plugin, encouraged me to re-design the SignWriting symbolset used in 2004 software. Steve aided me in creating the International SignWriting Alphabet 2008, and then encouraged me to make additional improvements in 2010. Because of Steve, the ISWA 2010 is used in SignWriting software around the world.

...and Adam Frost, whose Deaf perspective and feedback has been invaluable. Adam has steadfastly photographed his own hands doing all 6 palm facings of 261 handshapes, and has tirelessly enlarged each symbol and improved them graphically at large sizes, making the illustrations in this book possible. # 10 Hand Symbol Groups

in the International SignWriting Alphabet 2010

Rootshapes

Like roots to a tree, Rootshapes provide the foundation for all hand symbols in the International SignWriting Alphabet (ISWA 2010). There are 13 Rootshapes.

Rootshapes are determined by the shape of the LOWEST finger in the handshape. For example, a square for a TIGHT Fist must have at least one finger touching the palm of the hand. A circle for an OPEN fist, has at least one finger close to the palm of the hand, but not touching the palm of the hand.

Rootshape 01: Tight Fist

Tight Fist: At least 1 finger touches palm

Rootshape 02: Fist Thumb Under

Tight Fist: At least 1 finger touches palm with thumb under it

Rootshape 03: Fist Thumb Across

Tight Fist: At least 1 finger rests on top of thumb across palm

Rootshape 04: Circle

At least 1 fingertip touches thumbtip in a curve or...
At least 1 curved finger is close to palm of hand

Rootshape 05: Curlicue

At least 1 fingertip touches inside middle of thumb

Rootshape 06: Claw

At least 1 finger is bent at Middle Joint & Tip Joint

Rootshape 07: Hook

At least 1 finger is bent at Middle Joint, touching thumb tip

Rootshape 08: Cup

At least 1 finger is curved at the Middle Joint & Tip Joint.
There is NO bend or curve at the Knuckle Joint.

Rootshape 09: Oval

At least 1 finger is curved at all three joints: Knuckle Joint, Middle Joint and Tip Joint.

Rootshape 10: Hinge

At least 1 finger bends at the Knuckle Joint, while the Middle Joint and Tip Joint lock completely straight.

Rootshape 11: Angle

The Hinge, with fingertips and thumb tip touching

Rootshape 12: Flat Thumb Across

Thumb across palm, four fingers straight up with no bends

Rootshape 13: Flat

Five fingers straight up with no bends

Action Fingers

Once the Rootshape is established, the lines for the fingers are attached. The finger lines are called Action Fingers. They extend from the root of the hand like branches on a tree. Action Fingers are more important than the Rootshape, because they are looked at first, just as observers look at the branches of a tree first. Readers focus on Action Fingers first, since they give meaning to the handshape.

2008 Standardization of Hand Symbols

Over a 34 year period, from 1974-2008, thousands of people used SignWriting to write their sign languages, and through this natural process, the writing system improved. Today, in 2010, SignWriting is more compact and streamlined because of this important natural evolution. Back in 1998, the hand symbols were working relatively well and remained the same for a decade. But there was one inconsistency with finger direction and palm facing, relating only to the white palm symbols, that was finally resolved with the development of the International SignWriting Alphabet 2008. The white palm facing symbols now relate to the Center of the Body like all other hand symbols. This book documents the 2008 Standardization of Hand Symbols: ALL hand symbols consistently relate to the Center of the Body.

A Series of Five Manuals

This manual, Part 2, documents every hand symbol in the International SignWriting Alphabet 2010. Some writing instruction can be found in the beginning and at the end of this manual, but generally this is a reference manual showing what each symbol represents. How to write documents using these symbols will be presented in Manual 5, which will include information on SignSpellings, punctuation of sign sentences and writing role shifting in three Lanes. There will be five separate manuals in this series, that in time will be consolidated into one large volume:

The SignWriting Reference Manuals

Manual 1: SignWriting Basics

Manual 2: SignWriting Hand Symbols

Manual 3: SignWriting Movement Symbols

Manual 4: SignWriting Face & Gesture

Manual 5: SignWriting Literature Composition

Expressive Front View

Signs are written from the signer's expressive viewpoint. Imagine standing BEHIND the signer, copying what the signer does and feels.

Palm of Hand

The palm of the hand is written with a white or hollow symbol.

Front View Parallel with Wall Plane

The hand is parallel to the Front Wall. The white symbol shows that the palm faces towards your body, towards the reader.

Side of Hand

The side of the hand is written with a symbol that is half-white and half-dark. The half-white section shows the direction of the palm. The half-dark section represents the back of the hand.

Front View Parallel with Wall Plane

The hand is parallel to the Front Wall. The thumb of the hand faces towards your body.

Back of Hand

The back of the hand is written with a black or filled-in symbol.

Front View Parallel with Wall Plane

The hand is parallel to the Front Wall. The black symbol shows that the back of the hand faces towards your body.

Expressive Top View

Signs are written from the signer's expressive viewpoint. Imagine looking down on the position of the signer, from a bird's eye view.

Palm of Hand

Top View
Parallel with Floor Plane

The hand is parallel to the floor. You are looking down at your palm from overhead. The white symbol has a space at the knuckle joint representing the Horizon Line. A hand symbol with the Horizon Line crossing over the knuckles means the hand is "parallel with the floor" read from the Top View.

Side of Hand

Top View
Parallel with Floor Plane

The hand is parallel to the floor. You are looking down at the side of your hand (your thumb) from overhead. The hand symbol has a space at the knuckle joint representing the Horizon Line. A hand symbol with the Horizon Line crossing over the knuckles means the hand is "parallel with the floor" read from the Top View.

Back of Hand

Top View
Parallel with Floor Plane

The hand is parallel to the floor. You are looking down at the back of your hand from overhead. The hand symbol has a space at the knuckle joint, representing the Horizon Line. A hand symbol with the Horizon Line crossing over the knuckles means the hand is "parallel with the floor" read from the Top View.

Hands Relate to Center

Left Hand

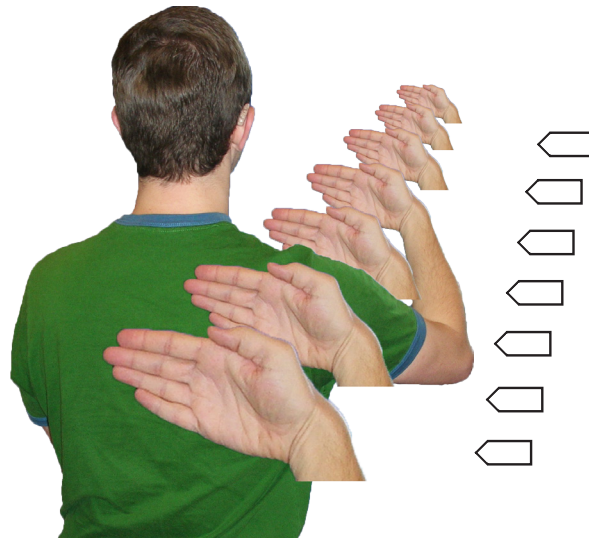

Right Hand

The Wall Plane

Hand symbols parallel to the Front Wall look the same whether they are far from the chest, close to or touching the chest, or behind the body. You can FEEL the position of the palm facing. It remains the same symbol no matter how close or far it is.

The Floor Plane

Hand symbols parallel to the Floor look the same whether they are high above the head, in the middle in front of your chest, or low at hip level. You can FEEL the position of the palm facing. It remains the same symbol no matter how high or low it is.

Hands Pointing to the Side

Hand symbols with the fingers pointing to the side can be written from the Front View, parallel to the Front Wall Plane, or from the Top View, parallel to the Floor Plane. Both symbols are correct, since side-to-side can be seen from the Front View or the Top View. Choose to write the simpler symbols seen from the Front View, parallel to the Front Wall, since they are less complicated for quick reading:

Choose the Front View

The Front View writes the palm of the hand with a white or hollow symbol.

Front View Is Easier to Read

When the fingers point to the side wall, it is best to write the symbol parallel to the Front Wall because the symbol is easier to read.

Top View Is Correct but...

The Top View of the hand is written with a half-white half-dark symbol with the Horizon Line across the knuckles.

Top View Is Harder to Read

When the fingers point to the side wall, it is correct to write the symbol parallel to the Floor, but it is harder to read and therefore not recommended.

Finger Direction Is Meaningful

Different ways to write the same position: The Top View of the Back of the Hand can be written at a slant. Some writers feel this looks more like real life because the fingers are directed down.

Note: See page 293 for more information and instruction.

Two Ways to Write Thumb Towards Reader

The side view of the Thumb Hand (see page 272) can be written in two ways. The dot for the thumb projecting directly toward the reader is the official symbol of the ISWA 2010. But some writers choose to write a line for the thumb to the side, rather than the dot. The line for the thumb is always placed on the dark side of the symbol. Both methods mean the same thing and are correct:

Action Fingers Directed Towards The Face & Body

Finger direction relates to the Center of the Body. Action Fingers that bend at the knuckle joint in Angle, Hinge, Cup or Curve hand positions direct the fingers into the Center of the Body. The white palm shows the palm is facing the body, with a slight hint that the palm is slightly turned toward the Center too.

Action Fingers Directed Up

Angle Hand Symbols

Point the tip of the angled fingers in meaningful directions.

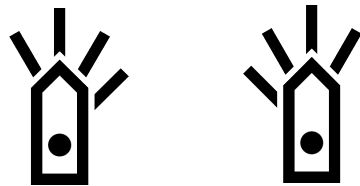

When writing Angle Hands, write the direction of the fingers based on what “feels correct” for the meaning of the sign. Then look at your palm. Where is the palm facing? If the palm is facing the ceiling, then it is parallel to the floor. It will be white with a space at the knuckle joint.

Action Fingers Directed Out Away From The Body

This is very rare. If the majority of Action Fingers are directed to the outside, away from the Center of the Body, as in the sign for FAIRY GODMOTHER in ASL, then it is written pointing out.

About the Authors

Valerie Sutton

Hello! My name is Valerie Sutton and I am the inventor of the SignWriting Script, also called the International SignWriting Alphabet. I first invented SignWriting while I lived in Denmark in 1974. It is one of five sections of Sutton Movement Writing, a system I developed for reading and writing body movement. I grew up in professional ballet training in Southern California, and first invented DanceWriting, preserving the historic Bournonville Schools, a ballet system used by the Royal Danish Ballet. In 1974, while I was teaching the Royal Danish Ballet to read and write dance, a researcher at the University of Copenhagen, Lars von der Lieth, asked me to develop a way to read and write the movements of signed languages for a research project. I became captivated with the beauty of Danish Sign Language, and decided that reading and writing sign languages was an important tool. I chose to dedicate my life to the development of the SignWriting Script, for writing any sign language in the world.

I started working full time with SignWriting in 1981, working with Founding Editor Nancy Romero, and a team of Deaf writers, publishing the SignWriter Newspaper from 1981-1984, working with ASL Deaf expert Lucinda O'Grady Batch to coordinate the Deaf Action Committee for SignWriting (the DAC) in 1986-1988, with software developer Richard Gleaves, in the development of the SignWriter Computer Program, and with Deaf storytellers and ASL teachers, Darline Clark Gunsauls, Kevin Clark, David Gunsauls and other members of the Deaf Community, to develop and write a body of SignWriting Literature for the SignWriting Literacy Project.

In 2004, I began collaborating with software developer Stephen E. Slevinski Jr. and Deaf ASL writer, teacher and linguist Adam Frost. The three of us, and Nancy Romero, a skilled ASL literature writer, together in 2013, are pioneering the creation of the world's first Wikipedias written in sign languages. # About the Authors

Adam Frost

Adam Frost was born deaf in 1982 to a Deaf family in Utah, and grew up north of Los Angeles, California. From an early age, Adam felt the need for a written form for his language, American Sign Language (ASL). Before 2003, Adam knew nothing of SignWriting, which was developed by Valerie Sutton in Denmark in 1974. Ironically, Valerie taught SignWriting at Los Angeles Pierce College in 1982, the year Adam was born. Later Adam attended Los Angeles Pierce College, receiving his Associates Degree in ASL/Interpreting in 2006.

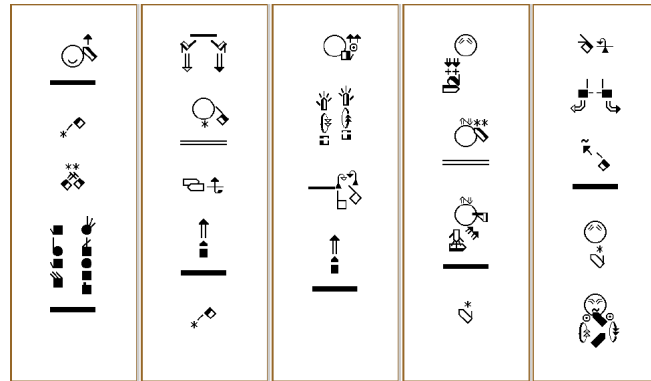

In 2003, while on the internet, Adam happened to come across SignWriting. He was instantly attracted to it. He joined the SignWriting List and asked questions on how to write signs, and wrote a school paper interviewing people about SignWriting at LA Pierce College. Adam became a skilled signwriter, and soon was answering other List member's questions. In 2004, Adam began working with Valerie Sutton as a member of the Deaf Action Committee for SignWriting (the DAC), dedicating long hours of work to a series of SignWriting projects.

Adam had a vision of an ASL dictionary written completely in ASL. His first project with the DAC was to write sign-definitions in ASL. Some of these definitions are available in the ASL Dictionary in SignPuddle Online. For example, here is the sign for ONE with ASL definitions:

In 2008, Adam wrote and signed his own ASL video called “Why SignWriting?” which he transcribed into SignWriting. It has helped newcomers to SignWriting understand the purpose and value of writing sign languages.

2 Hello. My name is Adam Frost. I have been deaf since birth. I use sign language everyday of my life. I have learned English. It is my second language. My greatest frustration...

Adam dreamed of a day when web sites are written in ASL. That day came in 2009, when Adam developed and posted his blog in written ASL:

Frost Village
Adam Frost’s Blog in Written ASL
<http://frostvillage.com/blog/lang/ase/>

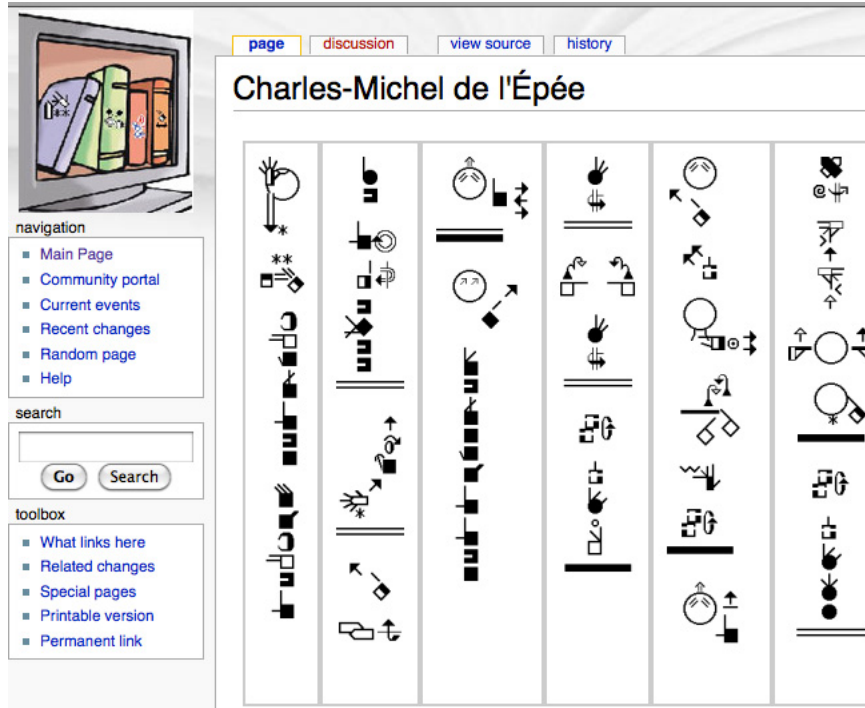

Adam became an Editor of the ASL Dictionary and ASL Literature Puddles in SignPuddle Online, and in 2009-2010 worked with a team of people on posting the first ASL encyclopedia articles in the SignWriting Wiki on the web. Charles Butler wrote two Deaf history articles in SignWriting, and Adam posted them in the SignWriting Wiki. Go to:

Presently in 2013

Adam teaches American Sign Language at University of California at San Diego (UCSD) and San Diego Mesa College, and is the lead ASL Editor of the ASL Wikipedia written in SignWriting.

Adam Frost with Valerie Sutton, August, 2010.

This book has been a true collaboration between Valerie Sutton, the developer of the International SignWriting Alphabet (ISWA 2010), and Adam Frost, who enlarged the symbols of the ISWA improving them graphically. Adam took photos of his own hands, which was in itself, a very large job. But he also enlarged each symbol from the original PNG format, improving the large sized symbols graphically, and then saving each symbol in EPS, PSD, Animated GIF and SVG formats. Now the symbols of the ISWA 2010 are available for programmers and users in these formats, as well as the original PNG format which Valerie developed.

Over the decades, skilled signers and members of the Deaf Action Committee for SignWriting (the DAC) have worked with Valerie, influencing the writing system, keeping it a living, breathing script for more than 40 sign languages, molded to the needs of its users by its users. There have been several generations of DAC members who have had influence on SignWriting, and Adam Frost is the younger generation. At age 29 in 2011, Adam has worked on several SignWriting projects, and this book is one of the most important.

Adam worked tirelessly in the summer of 2011, completing the SVG format of the entire ISWA 2010. This was an enormous task... a gift to SignWriting users. Steve Slevinski, developer of SignPuddle and the SignWriting Image Server (SWIS), will be using Adam's hand-refined SVG in his software. This means that SignWriting documents in the future will have smoother more beautiful vector-designed symbols. No more bitmaps!

SignWriting in SVG will also assist in developing TrueType Fonts for SignWriting. TrueType fonts are necessary for acceptance into Unicode.

Adam has a great love for language and literature especially in his native language, ASL. Adam has enjoyed working on this book as his knowledge of SignWriting has deepened. He hopes that users of this manual will also deepen their knowledge of SignWriting and that they will continue making the dream of written Sign Languages a reality.

Manual 1: SignWriting Basics

Learn the basics of SignWriting with this slender, 42 page, spiral-bound manual. An introduction to reading and writing any sign language, it gives a summary of hand symbols, contact symbols, finger movements, arm movements, facial expressions, and reading of sign language literature. All examples are in American Sign Language (ASL). Free for download on the web, and only $10.00 in the SignWriting Shop. ISBN: 978-0-914336-49-5

2 SignWriting Reference Manual

Manual 2: SignWriting Hand Symbols, ISWA 2010

This 300-page spiral-bound reference manual devotes a full page to each of the 261 hand symbols of the International SignWriting Alphabet (ISWA 2010), used to write over 40 sign languages on the web in SignPuddle Online. Each page shows one handshape with 6 photos showing 6 different palm facings. The corresponding SignWriting symbol is placed next to each photo. Additional SignWriting instruction is included in the front and the back of the book. ISBN: 978-0-914336-86-0
